three basic cell lineages in mammals. These include the trophoblast surrounding the embryo and facilitating communication with the mother, the epiblast which develops into the fetus, and the primitive endoderm which forms the yolk sac. Until implantation, the embryos undergo remarkable changes including histone modifications, chromatin remodeling, epigenetic modifications of chromatin, the onset of transcription from the embryonic genome, and the first differentiation to the formation of the trilaminar disc containing all primary cell lineages required for the formation of fetal tissues and organs. Remarkably, some of the most complex events of early development, such as fertilization, are achieved during complete transcriptional silencing. Another unique feature is how fast the development proceeds. In humans, reaching the stage of early gastrulation takes approximately two weeks.
