Geographies of the Book Charles W.J. Withers, 2016-04-15 The geography of the book is as old as the history of the book though far less thoroughly explored Yet research has increasingly pointed to the spatial dimensions of book history to the transformation of texts as they are made and moved from place to place from authors to readers and within different communities and cultures of reception Widespread recognition of the significance of place of the effects of movement over space and of the importance of location to the making and reception of print culture has been a feature of recent book history work and draws in many instances upon studies within the history of science as well as geography Geographies of the Book explores the complex relationships between the making of books in certain geographical contexts the movement of books epistemologically as well as geographically and the ways in which they are received 2009, 2010-06-15 Reviews are an important aspect of scholarly discussion because they help filter out which works are relevant in the yearly flood of publications and are thus influential in determining how a work is received The IBR published again since 1971 as an interdisciplinary international bibliography of reviews it is a unique source of bibliographical information The database contains entries on over 1 2 million book reviews of literature dealing primarily with the humanities and social sciences published in 6 820 mainly European scholarly journals Reviews of more than 560 000 scholarly works are listed The database increases every year by 60 000 entries Every entry contains the following information On the work reviewed author title On the review reviewer periodical year edition page ISSN language subject area in German English Italian Publisher address of journal
