Gleanings From the Poets Anna C. Lowell,2018-03-09 Excerpt from Gleanings From the Poets For Home and School It is with this design of presenting beauty both moral and natural in its manifold shapes as it is shown to us in the universe that the present collection has been made The pieces chosen are with very few exceptions entire because passages are always injured by being taken from their connection and because young persons like to know the whole of a thing They are short and selected from the whole range of English and

American standard authors it being thought better to offer sentiments as they arise in a great variety of minds and mould themselves into gentle verse They are not exclusively of one school or time for beauty is not to be prisoned The artist finds it not complete in one model but studies it in all its appearances and then though he paint but one face or one landscape he gives us the wealth of a world In matters of taste and genius we should not limit our children we should rather rejoice that their larger souls perceive a beauty where ours find none We must not say The trees of the forest may be beautiful but I first learned beauty from my stately poplars and they must satisfy my children Nor should we reject the ora of a new world because rumor says that Eden also has its weeds About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
