Globalization And Third World Women Globalization And Third World Women:

Globalization and Third World Women Ligaya Lindio-McGovern, Isidor Wallimann, 2009 Adopting the notion of third world as a political and geographical category this volume analyzes marginalized women's experiences of globalization The combination of a thematically structured investigation with the exploration of policy implications has resulted in an essential and cutting edge volume for sociological academics

Women, Globalization and Fragmentation in the Developing World H. Afshar, S. Barrientos, 1999-07-05 The process of globalization has had a dramatic impact on the lives of women in developing countries in the past decade They have been increasingly drawn into insecure flexible employment working for the world market The feminisation of the labour market has increased the burdens on women and the inability of men to access full time well remunerated employment has exacerbated the process of male out migration and has left many families headed by women At the same time the reduction in state services and welfare has increased the burdens placed on women Nevertheless the consequences of globalization have been different for different women in different places In some circumstances it has created opportunities for greater empowerment whilst in others it has stimulated a reaction and increased the subordination of women This book explores the experiences of women in diverse local contexts within different cultures and faiths drawing on case studies from Asia Africa and Latin America It draws out the contradictory and fragmented impact of globalization at the local level on the lives of women in the developing world

Gender Development & Globalization Terryl Blackwell, 2018-06-18 Gender Development and Globalization is the leading primer on global feminist economics and development Gender is a development issue because social considerations are not easily incorporated into institutions such as policies regulations markets and organizations This process is often referred to as the mainstreaming of gender in development institutions Women are often in a disadvantaged position in terms of access to assets services information and formal decision making status Gender equality is considered a critical element in achieving Decent Work for All Women and Men in order to effect social and institutional change that leads to sustainable development with equity and growth Gender equality refers to equal rights responsibilities and opportunities that all persons should enjoy regardless of whether one is born male or female Gender developmental scientists are concerned with age related changes in gender typing and more broadly with many issues about the emergence and patterning of gendered behaviors and thinking Description of these changes is vitally important as it informs theoretical approaches to gender development Using a broad lens on age related changes provides important information describing how development occurs but shorter time frames are also useful for identifying processes that may underlie developmental patterns Gender has been increasingly acknowledged as a critical variable in analysis and development planning Gender is an expression of power in social relationship between men and women The book will be very useful to academicians researchers planners students NGOs civil societies and all those who are interested in women studies in general and gender issues in contexts in particular

The Experiences of Ghanaian Live-in Caregivers in the United States Martha Donkor, 2017-11-15 Using the convergence of the impact of globalization and political turmoil in Ghana on Ghanaian women as a backdrop this book examines the migration of the women to the US and their decisions to care for upper middle class white seniors who elected to stay in their homes to be cared for by private caregivers The book explores the attraction of domestic care work the women's perceptions of their job their relationships with their clients and the dynamics of their relationships with their immediate families and families left behind in Ghana It also analyzes the women's interactions with the immigrant community from their remote work sites The book examines widely held beliefs about domestic work as undervalued under remunerated and relegated to marginalized immigrant women of color While admitting that these problems exist the women whose stories are told in the book did not believe that their brand of care work which they called private practice was undervalued or underpaid They also did not think that racism played a role in the concentration of immigrant women of color in domestic care work as widely believed although again the women admitted that there was racism in American society By doing so the women symbolically placed themselves beyond the institutional barriers that constrain the lives of women of color in American society And while it addresses common themes like exploitation abuse restriction of movement etc that other studies of immigrant live in caregiving address this book stands out in two major ways First is its truly transnational character It links the women's background in Ghana to their immigration history and how these two influenced their choice as well as perceptions of care work and then loops their experience of care work back to expectations in Ghana Second the book validates the women's voices as a product of their cultural background thus making the case that the women's choices and experiences were informed by conditions in the US and the cultural baggage the women brought with them The book argues that private care work satisfied women's financial expectations and with that leverage in their families

Women's Labor in the Global Economy Sharon Harley, 2007 Examines the ways in which women across the globe individually and collectively are responding to new economic pressures and historical circumstances that are shaping their lives

Globalizing Women Valentine M. Moghadam, 2005-02-16 Globalization may offer modern feminism its greatest opportunity and greatest challenge Allowing communication and information exchange while also exacerbating economic and social inequalities globalization has fostered the growth of transnational feminist networks TFNs These groups have used the Internet to build coalitions lobby governments and advance the goals of feminism Globalizing Women explains how the negative and positive aspects of globalization have helped to create transnational networks of activists and organizations with common agendas Sociologist Valentine M Moghadam discusses six such feminist networks to analyze the organization objectives programs and outcomes of these groups in their effort to improve conditions for women throughout the world Moghadam also examines how globalizing women are responding to and resisting growing
