Sustainability of NGOs and Globalisation N. Ravichandran,2007 In the era of globalisation successful implementation of development programmes requires an appropriate policy framework formulation of suitable plan and schemes and an effective delivery machinery Indeed development is a process of mutual endeavour that calls for the involvement of people in all the segments of society This has necessitated the emergence of institutions which can function as a catalyst between the state and the civil society while still remaining independent of direct government intervention Conversely past experiences of NGOs suggest that availability of funds by itself is no panacea for the problems of poverty backwardness and low human development anywhere in the world This has provoked a series of questions related to the behaviour of NGOs and their dynamics a phenomenon largely missing during the last two decades That is the most profound question is concerned with the very contribution of NGOs the level and degree of implementation and identified alternative development and their level of sustainability Thus no aspect of the development discourse can be carried forward today without paying attention to the work and the voice of NGOs What is needed is not the creation of a completely new sustainability outlook but the establishment of a firm contemporary agenda that builds on some of the proven strengths of the community based agenda Within this context the thinking about sustainability in particular ought to be built on a firmer and more strategically robust foundation than available now This book comprehensively reviews the key questions about aid and sustainability including the changing motives for and the purposes of providing aid the need for new aid targets distinctions among various recipient NPOs and the implications of globalisation In fact it is an attempt to understand the term sustainability in the context of globalisation through a process of transforming that understanding into organizational action Although sustainability globalisation and organizational action can stand by themselves it may be a useful exercise to explore the sustainability concept under the globalisation setting drawing on its own experiences and best practices from India      Africa and the New Globalization George Klay Kieh,2008 This book focuses on the new globalization the most expansive and technologically advanced of all the phases of globalization It identifies and discusses many of the frontier issues in Africa that are being impacted by the dynamics of this new globalization debt human rights development state sovereignty the environment and the HIV AIDS pandemic      In Defense of Globalization Jagdish Bhagwati,2007-09-04 In the passionate debate that currently rages over globalization critics have been heard blaming it for a host of ills afflicting poorer nations everything from child labor to environmental degradation and cultural homogenization Now Jagdish Bhagwati the internationally renowned economist takes on the critics revealing that globalization when properly governed is in fact the most powerful force for social good in the world today Drawing on his unparalleled knowledge of international and development economics Bhagwati explains why the gotcha examples of the critics are often not as compelling as they seem With the wit and wisdom for which he is renowned Bhagwati convincingly shows that globalization is part of the solution not part of the problem This edition features a new afterword by the author in which he counters recent writings by prominent journalist Thomas Friedman and the Nobel Laureate economist Paul Samuelson and argues that current anxieties about the economic implications of globalization are just as unfounded as were the concerns about its social effects

Gautney, 2009-12-21 This study looks at the ongoing efforts of the Alternative Global Movement and World Social Forum to reconcile contests over political organization among three of the most prominent groups on the contemporary left social and liberal democratic NGOs anti authoritarian anarchist social movements and political parties

Humanitarian NGOs and the aggravation of Conflicts Tobias Hoenger, 2013-10-25 Scientific Essay from the year 2013 in the subject Politics Topic Globalization Political Economics grade 92 language English abstract NGOs often define their mission as a work with people who need help and cannot count on official government or foreign aid NGOs in conflict settings have saved lives protected human rights helped in post conflict development and more However NGO record is not without problems and in the age of growing conflict complexity and intractability non governmental organizations in transnational work are facing a major duty This paper aims to explore problems of NGOs working in or on a conflict The literature on NGOs and conflict has been growing remarkable during the last years A big part of the literature is dealing with conflict resolution or peace building activities of NGOs or in general non state actors Quiet smaller is the number of literature on negative impacts of NGOs on a conflict Within those bibliographies we often find the negative impacts of humanitarian aid In the light of the post Cold War era where NGOs gained importance in transnational politics problems caused by NGOs should not be disregarded This leads to the question of this paper What are negative effects of humanitarian NGOs in Conflict intervention and how can they be minimized For addressing this question this paper shows on first hand impacts of the globalization process which directly relates to the growing importance of NGOs In a second step it deals with the issue of NGOs involved in conflict In that chapter also lies a first philosophical approximation of problems of the humanitarian debate For a broader understanding techniques of NGOs in conflict will be covered Finally specific negative impacts of humanitarian NGOs will be exposed within different dimensions Once criticism has been exercised there is always a need to give suggestions for improvement What NGOs and especially humanitarian NGOs can do to overcome the negative impacts on a conflict is considered as a major part of this paper

questions through a series of extensive case studies from East and Southeast Asia including Japan China South Korea Taiwan Hong Kong Singapore Indonesia and Vietnam NGOs and Governance in the Arab World Sarah Ben Néfissa, Carlos Milani, 2005 Most non governmental organizations NGOs in the Arab world have traditionally been active in the areas of social work and charity often within a religious or communal framework But recently many of these organizations have become the forum for conflicts between different political trends while others tackle political problems such as human rights or democratic issues Facing the rejuvenated NGO scene in the Arab world public authorities remain torn between support for the concerns of civil society and the traditional mode of management which does not delegate consult or decentralize Can NGOs in the Arab world be considered full fledged actors of governance and of national and local development Is the relationship between NGOs and public authorities at the national and local level one of partnership or opposition and competition Are NGOs perceived to be palliatives to the shortcomings of the public authorities How is the relationship between NGOs and society to be defined Do Arab NGOs highlight the issues that remain undetected by the classical methods of action of the public authorities The studies in this collection arising out of the Conference on NGOs and Governance in the Arab World held in Cairo in March 2000 attempt to answer these and other areas of concern Contributors Sylvia Chiffoleau Dina Craissati Guilain Denoeux Mona Fawaz Vivian Fouad Sari Hanafi Karam Karam Samir Marcos Nicola Pratt Nadia Refat Pierre Jean Roca Muhamad Al Sayyid Said Salma Aown Shawa Abd Al Ghaffar Shukr Acquired Immuno-deficiency Syndrome, Non-governmental Organizations and Globalization Ravindra B. Molly Ruhlman,2014-08-01 Why are non state actors sometimes granted participation rights in international organizations This book argues that IOs and the states that compose them systematically pursue their interests when granting participation rights to NSAs This book demonstrates that NSAs have long been participants in global governance institutions and that states and bureaucracies have not always resisted their inclusion

At the same time this study encourages skepticism of the assumption that increasing participation should be expected with the passage of time. The result is a study that challenges some commonly held assumptions about the interests of IOs and states while providing an interesting comparison of secretariat and state interests with regard to one particular aspect of IO institutional rule and practice: the participation of non-state actors. Addressing the regular assumption that the power of states and the efficacy of multilateral governance have simply wilted in the heat of globalization while NSAs have flourished, this work features analysis of key institutions such as UNICEF, UNDP and the Environment Programme. It will be of great interest to students and scholars of international relations, the United Nations and NGOs.

Government-NGO Relationships in Africa, Asia, Europe and MENA Raffaele Marchetti, 2018-04-27. This volume brings together some of the most recent scholarship on government and civil society. It examines the axis of the relationship between national governments and civil society organisations (NGOs) by highlighting commonalities as well as differences among four key regions in the world. Using the stability vs. instability framework, the book explores a range of pertinent issues including human rights, development, foreign policy, state building, regime change, governance frameworks, wars and civil liberties. It studies diverse situations from those entailing comprehensive cooperation to those involving politically contentious and revolutionary activities. With case studies from Africa, Asia, Europe and the Middle East and North Africa (MENA), this volume will be useful to scholars and researchers of political science, global politics, international relations, sociology, development studies, global governance and public policy as well as to those in the development sector and NGOs.

The NGO Moment Kevin O'Sullivan, 2021-10-14. This book is a study of compassion as a global project from Biafra to Live Aid. Kevin O'Sullivan explains how and why NGOs became the primary conduits of popular concern for the global poor between the late 1960s and the mid 1980s and shows how this shaped the West's relationship with the post-colonial world.

Drawing on case studies from Britain Canada and Ireland as well as archival material from governments and international organisations he sheds new light on how the legacies of empire were re packaged and re purposed for the post colonial era and how a liberal definition of benevolence rooted in charity justice development and rights became the dominant expression of solidarity with the Third World In doing so the book provides a unique insight into the social cultural and ideological foundations of global civil society It reveals why this period provided such fertile ground for the emergence of NGOs and offers a fresh interpretation of how individuals in the West encountered the outside world
