Gazala 1942 Rommels Greatest Victory Campaign:

Gazala 1942 Ken Ford, 2011-01-01 Illustrated by contemporary photos and specially commissioned maps this book is a fascinating account of Rommel's greatest victory Following a lull in the desert war which saw the Germans and British reinforce their armies Rommel suddenly attacked British fortifications with an assault on the northern sector of the British line near Gazala Pinning down the British in the north and outflanking the 1st Free French Brigade Rommel succeeded in encircling the main British positions trapping them in what became known as The Cauldron With thousands of British soldiers killed or taken prisoner this was a devastating defeat for the Allies Accompanied by contemporary photographs and maps depicting the movement of both armies Ken Ford provides a masterful study of Rommel the Desert Fox at the height of his powers as he swept the British army back to the site of their final stand at El Alamein Gazala 1942 Ken Ford, Howard Gerrard, 2002

South Africans versus Rommel David Brock Katz, 2017-11-15 After bitter debate South Africa a dominion of the British Empire at the time declared war on Germany five days after the invasion of Poland in September 1939 Thrust by the British into the campaign against Erwin Rommel's German Afrika Korps in North Africa the South Africans fought a see saw war of defeats followed by successes culminating in the Battle of El Alamein where South African soldiers made a significant contribution to halting the Desert Fox's advance into Egypt This is the story of an army committed somewhat reluctantly to a war it didn't fully support ill prepared for the battles it was tasked with fighting and sent into action on the orders of its senior alliance partner At its heart however this is the story of men at war Monty and Rommel Peter Caddick-Adams, 2013-09-24 An accessible well honed study of two fascinating characters who famously fought each other in numerous battles during WWII from Egypt to D Day Kirkus Bernard Montgomery and Erwin Rommel faced one another in a series of extraordinary battles that established each man as one of the greatest generals in history Born four years apart their lives were remarkably similar Each came from provincial roots nearly died in WWI yet emerged from that great conflict with glowing records Through their many duels including their legendary conflicts in North Africa and later at the Normandy D Day invasion Peter Caddick Adams tracks and compares their military talents and personalities Monty and Rommel explores how each general was raised to power by their war leaders Churchill and Hitler and how the innovative military strategy and thought of both permeate down to today's armies Rommel's Greatest Victory Samuel W. Mitcham, 1998 The Desert Fox Erwin Rommel was the foremost strategist and tactician of his generation and his defeat of the British forces at the important Libyan port of Tobruk in spring 1942 was the crown jewel of his military campaigns a victory so stunning it forced a vote of confidence in the Churchill government Mitcham Jr history Hendersonville State U chronicles Rommel's march to Tobruk noting the leader's ability to discern the best places and times to strike He includes several maps and bandw photos Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR British Fortifications, 1485-1945 Jean-Denis G.G. Lepage, 2023-07-20 This book details British fortifications used from the Tudor period beginning in 1485 through the end of World War II in 1945 With the advent of firearms the Tudor period indeed opened a new chapter in the histories of Britain fortification and warfare By 1500 AD Britain and Europe at large entered a new phase marked by the foundation of colonial empires and a broadened sphere of influence and rule During the following centuries British sailors ruthless adventurers fighting men and greedy merchants laid foundations to fortify the most widespread and most prosperous colonial Empire the world had ever seen This text focuses on British coastal fortifications and on combinations of fortresses used for more general strategic purposes Featured structures have protected points of vital importance such as capital cities military depots ports harbors and dockyards at essential locations in Britain and throughout the British Empire

From Tobruk to Tunis Neal Dando, 2016-04-21 This book focuses on the extent to which the physical terrain features across Egypt Libya and Tunisia affected British operations throughout the campaign in North Africa during the Second World War One main theme of the work analyses the terrain from the operational and tactical perspective and argues that the landscape features heavily influenced British operations and should now be considered alongside other standard military factors The work differs from previous studies in that it considers these additional factors for the entire campaign until the Axis surrender in May 1943 Until now it has been widely assumed that much of the Western Desert coastal plateau was a broadly level open region in which mobile armored operations were paramount However this work concentrates on the British operations to show they were driven by the need to capture and hold key features across each successive battlefield At the operational level planning was led by the need to hold key ground across Libya and especially the province of Cyrenaica during the crucial middle period of the campaign A secondary theme of the work argues that British forces began to improvise certain tactical doctrines which altered the early practice of combined arms assaults into one of the Infantry and Armored formations fighting largely separated battles until the autumn of 1942 Other developments in doctrine which were affected by the terrain included the practice of unit dispersal to hold key ground and the use of temporary units such as Jock columns to harass and engage the enemy The two themes are inter linked and contribute fresh insights to the debate on British methods of warfare The author has consulted key primary documents reports war diaries and published memoirs from major UK archives and compared these with the campaign historiography to develop the main themes of the work These include the National Archives the Churchill Archives Center the Liddell Hart Center for Military History the National Army Museum John Rylands Center Imperial War Museum at London and Duxford and London and the Tank Museum Archives at Bovington The sources include unit war diaries after action reports along with many of the key published and some unpublished memoirs His text is supported by 24 pages of specially commissioned color maps

'Strafer' N. S. Nash, 2013-09-18 Unexpectedly selected by Churchill to command 8th Army in 1942 in place of the sacked Auchinleck Strafer Gott was targeted by German intelligence as he flew to Cairo to take up his new post Six ME109s intercepted his aircraft and after shooting it down deliberately machine gunned the crash scene Gott became the only Allied general to be successfully targeted by the Germans and as a result Montgomery was given command and the rest is history But as this long overdue and well researched biography reveals Strafer deserves to be remembered for his exceptional talents meteoric career and record of gallantry As a young officer in The Great War he won the Military Cross many thought a VC would have been more appropriate and he repeatedly attempted to escape In 1939 he was commanding his Battalion as a Lieutenant Colonel and two years later he became a Lieutenant General He was recognised as a superb Desert General whose aggression originality and leadership qualities were supported by charm warmth and compassion While it is fascinating if unproductive to surmise what would have happened had Gott and not Monty fought Rommel it can be confidently said that relations with our allies would have benefitted Drawing on primary source material this first biography of an outstanding soldier and commander is not only a rewarding and revealing read but an important addition to the bibliography of the Second World War As featured in the Dover Express Ashford Herald and Folkestone Herald
